The Louis Harris poll becomes a regular feature of the Times-Mirror and Observer starting today on page 4.

Top Of The Morning

WEATHER

Temperatures will average much above normal for the next five days with highs in the upper 40s and 50s. Showers are expected about mid week. Saturday's 7 a.m. report: high, 46; low, 36; precipitation, .02 in. Sunday: high, 53; low, 36; precipitation, .37 in.

KINZUA DAM REPORT

Measurements taken at the Allegheny Reservoir Saturday: pool level, 1283 (desired summer pool 1328, maximum 1366); downstream temperature, 35; Warren gauge, 2.93 feet and rising. Sunday: pool level, 1284.24; downstream temperature, 36; Warren gauge, 4.52 ft. and rising.

WARREN COUNTY

A half-dozen traffic accidents were recorded in the county over the weekend. Two drivers were charged with reckless driving. A pair of deer crossing a highway were the cause of a third.

Firemen from Sheffield and Clarendon battled house fires. Sheffield also reported a camp fire. One of the houses, a vacant dwelling on Austin Hill burned to the ground.

The present gold crisis has little effect on the people of this community. The enactment of measures to correct the situation will cause a few subtle changes but for the most part it will be business as usual.

PENNSYLVANIA

A conference on Civil Defense and disaster preparedness for area public officials will be held in Erie March 27.

The House-approved teacher salary bill heads for the Senate this week, caught between teacher demands for action and a possible gubernatorial veto for lack of funds.

THE NATION

Sen. Kennedy offered to stay out of the presidential contention if President Johnson appointed a commission with authority to change Vietnam war policy, an aide declares.

Congress awards eight of nine major design contracts for Capitol Hill construction to seven architects, eventual partners; architects who were shut out complain of "monopoly."

The seven nations making up the international gold pool acted Sunday to halt frenzied speculative buying of the metal by setting up a two-price system.

Robert F. Kennedy enters race and offers campaign help to presidential challenger Eugene McCarthy who rejects the offer and says Kennedy's candidacy could split the drive to deny renomination to President Johnson.

THE WORLD

With one eye on the bankers in Washington, Britain's finance minister puts the finishing touches to an annual budget that may provide the next act in the gold drama.

British banks will reopen Monday, but the London gold market will remain closed until April 1.

SPORTS

Three Warren wrestlers won championships in the Junior Olympic Tournament at DuBois on Saturday night, all in the elementary division. Greg Williams and Scott Albaugh took 70-pound crowns and Dave Catibdo was a 105-pound titlist. Seven other local grapplers were defeated in the finals. Page 11.

Registration for both boro and county Hot Stove Leagues will be held this week. The Warren loop has slated signups for tomorrow and Wednesday (registration form on Page 11) and the UAW will have registrations through the month. Page 11.

Houston and UCLA, both winners over the weekend, will meet in an NCAA basketball tourney semifinal on Friday night. The second game will pit North Carolina against Ohio State, upset winner over Kentucky on Saturday. Complete NCAA and NIT roundup on Page 10.

Charles Anderson scored 40 points to lead Pittsburgh Allegheny to a 79-73 overtime victory over Erie East in a Class A playoff game Saturday night. Laurel Highlands, 80-62 winner over Johnstown, will play Allegheny for the Western Regional championship on Wednesday. Page 10.

Central State of Ohio edged Fairmont, W. Va., 51-48, for the NAIA title. Ex-Meadville star Chris Buchanan was voted to the tourney All-Star team. Page 10.

Dan Sikes won the Citrus Open with a 66, one stroke ahead of Tom Weiskopf. Page 10.

The Pennsylvania Big 33-Texas All-Star football game will be discontinued. Page 10.

Enemy Casualties Mount In Saigon, Below DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — Continuing offensive operations, U.S. and South Vietnamese troops inflicted mounting casualties on enemy forces around Saigon and below the demilitarized zone over the weekend, allied commands reported Sunday.

U.S. Marines routed North Vietnamese regulars from a network of bunker and trenches near the allied artillery base at Gio Linh below the DMZ, the U.S. Command said.

At the same time, the United States added the world's fastest, most advanced fighter-bomber to its war arsenal. The U.S. Air Force announced six swingwing F111 jets had arrived at Ta Khai air base in Thailand for single combat flights over North Vietnam before starting squadron operations.

The planes fly at speeds of 1,500 miles an hour and can stay aloft on patrol longer than any other jets now in operation.

The U.S. Command in Saigon announced that the 50,000-man allied offensive to sweep the enemy out of the environs of the capital had completed its first week with the enemy death toll at 659.

American casualties in the seven-day period were 30 men killed and 224 wounded. South Vietnamese losses were described as light.

The command said troops of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment and South Vietnamese rangers caught about 400 Viet Cong guerrillas in a squeeze in the swamps 10 miles northwest of Saigon Saturday and after a 6½-hour battle they counted 135 enemy bodies scattered over the battle scene.

The U.S. force suffered no casualties but the South Vietnamese lost 10 men killed and 19 wounded.

Now Using F111s in Viet

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The U.S. Air Force Sunday introduced the 1,000-mile-an-hour swingwing F111 fighter-bomber into the line-up for the air war over North Vietnam.

Six of the $3-million planes landed at the Ta Khai air base 100 miles north of Bangkok and are expected soon to start single combat missions in the North before starting squadron operations.

The planes flew to Thailand from Nellis AFB, Nev., with a stop at Guam.

The F111 has just about every gadget it is possible to cram into an airplane and still leave room for a bomb load. The plane has wings that move backwards and forwards in flight for slow and fast speeds at different altitudes.

The first of their kind to enter the Vietnam war theater, they will undergo a thorough shake-down under combat conditions over North Vietnam to iron out any bugs that might develop before the aircraft goes into full squadron service.

According to U.S. Air Force combat pilots, the F111, despite its ultra-sophisticated gadgetry, will have to be good to measure up to the F105 Thunderchief which has shouldered most of the load over North Vietnam.

PB&T Is Celebrating 50th Anniversary Today

The Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company today is celebrating its 50th anniversary. It was on March 18, 1918 that Mr. James Curtis McKinney founded the Titusville Trust Company, predecessor to The Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company.

Con Con Meeting Open to All Voters

Annexation and boundary changes, apportionment, county government, home rule and finance are just a few of the many subjects that will be discussed by Warren attorney William F. Clinger at an open meeting for the public at the Warren County Court House, March 20 at 8 p.m.

These are some of the proposed changes to the State Constitution, suggested by the recently concluded Constitutional Convention, which met over a period of three months in the state capital.

The recommendations made by the 150 elected delegates will be on the April 23 ballot and should be of vital interest to any registered Pennsylvania voter. Clinger, in cooperation with the Warren County Young Republicans, has consented to speak and answer questions at this meeting open to all voters, regardless of political affiliation.

Seven Nations Adopt Two-Price Gold System To Halt Frenzied Buying

What Does Crisis Mean To Warren, Pa.?

BY MERLE B. MITCHAM

Editor's Note: Merle B. Mitcham, vice president and trust officer of the Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company, has long been deeply concerned about inflation, including the balance of payments, and its effect on United States gold reserves. In 1960 he addressed the Pennsylvania Bankers Association on this subject. In 1966 he spoke on "Gold" before the Social Science Section of the Warren Academy of Sciences. In recent weeks he discussed the impending gold crisis at the Warren Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Mitcham's response to a request to comment on the possible effect of the present "gold rush" on the man in the street in Warren is appreciated.

What will the present gold crisis mean to the man who walks, drives or does business in Warren, Penna., USA? It will mean very little. A financial panic or collapse similar to 1929-1934 is very unlikely. The dollar will remain as we have known it in the past. Business will proceed as usual. The housewife will continue to purchase groceries and pay for them as usual. Likewise, the businessman will buy and sell his products, and pay and receive dollars in the conduct of his business.

Business has never been so good. In contrast, news has never been so bad. Intelligent and far-thinking people are greatly concerned and worried about a number of important problems whose solution our government leaders are unwilling or unable to control. All are linked to the "gold rush", and all are created by men who have the capacity to

Brit. Budget May Provide Next Act in Gold Drama

LONDON (AP) — With one eye on the bankers' conference in Washington, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer Sunday finished drawing up the nation's annual budget, likely to provide the next act in the international monetary drama of gold.

Chancellor Roy Jenkins tells the Cabinet and Queen Elizabeth II Monday the secrets of the most important budget for Britain since World War II.

When he presents it to Parliament Tuesday, overseas holders of the world's most widely used paper currency after the dollar will be watching to see if their pounds are safe.

If they decide their money is at risk, the resulting rush out of sterling could undo the bankers' weekend work in Washington by putting the pound and the government that manages it into disrepute. The shock waves would again affect the dollar.

The British budget is more than a statement of taxes and government spending. It is an annual set-piece outlining the course of the economy. Jenkins has made it clear he will be "extremely tough" and tax enough money out of the average man's pocket to prevent him from buying goods that must be exported.

But how much is enough? The government's target is an annual shift of resources from home and government consumption to exports totalling $2.4 billion by 1970.

Government spending has already been cut back, although not by as much as Britain's creditors would like.

Rejecting Kennedy's proposal of personal campaign aid in the next primary in Wisconsin, McCarthy said, "I don't really think it would be very helpful. . . I don't have any plans. . . to invite him to come in at this time."

McCarthy suggested Kennedy should have turned to primaries in West Virginia and New Jersey—where no antiwar challenger is entered—instead of joining him in running against Johnson in California, Oregon and Nebraska.

"This could have been the way to proceed, it seems to me, instead of saying, 'well, Sen. McCarthy is in Oregon, he's in California,' and suggest that we have a kind of a personal contest here," McCarthy said.

Kennedy argued that two candidates could illuminate the issues and the opposition to presidential policies better than one. "Both of us together will do better than one of us individually," he said.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's announcement of his candidacy for the presidency has apparently had no marked effect on the outlook of local political leaders.

Thomas Conway, county Democratic chairman, said delegates to the Democratic National Convention from this congressional district have already pledged their support to President Johnson and there is little likelihood of their changing that support.

"Personally," Conway said, "I feel that Senator Kennedy's back filling and side stepping have not gained him tremendous support."

.. WASHINGTON (AP) The seven nations making up the international gold pool acted Sunday to halt frenzied speculative buying of the metal by denying individuals access to their gold stocks.

This, in effect, abolished the pool which has been making gold available through the London market to all comers at a price of $35 an ounce.

It was decided that the present $35 price will be maintained in transactions between the national central banks and international monetary authorities.

The aim is to limit individual purchasers to newly mined gold which they can buy in the London market at prices to be determined by supply and demand—but they will not have access to the stocks of the gold-pool nations.

Simultaneously with disclosure here of bankers' decisions it was announced in London that the gold market there—by the far the world's largest—will remain closed until April 1. It was closed Friday at the request of the United States after unprecedentedly heavy buying by individuals had threatened to exhaust the U.S. gold stocks—now below $12 billion and less than half of their onetime peak.

Only one major gold-holding nation, France, is not a member of the pool and thus not a party to the new agreement. The French gold stock is around $5 billion and it was not immediately affected.

Solution

Not Permanent

NEW YORK (AP) — The two-price gold system voted Sunday by the seven-nation gold pool buys the United States time to correct its balance of payments deficit but isn't a permanent solution, economists said.

"We had to do something because of the situation we were in last week," said William F. Butler, vice president of Chase Manhattan Bank.

"But you're wrong if you think this is the answer," he said.

Leif Olsen, senior vice president of First National City Bank of New York, called the decision part of a "muddle through policy. The idea is that you don't do anything until it's forced on you."

"It's about the only step that could be taken, not that it's the best," Olsen said.

Dr. Charles E. Walker, executive vice president of the American Bankers Association, said the two-price system "will work long enough for us to take the necessary steps to get our affairs in order if only we have the will to do so."

Initially, the two-price system would mean a higher price for gold on the private market, economists said.

"If we act in a way that restores and supports confidence abroad, I see no reason why it cannot work," Butler said.

"We've got to hold down spending, raise taxes and get our balance of payments in order, he said.

'Frenzied Man' Kills Six, Wounds Three in Mich.

IRONWOOD, Mich. (AP) — Six persons were shot to death and three others critically wounded by a "frenzied man" who roamed this Upper Peninsula community with a high-powered rifle before being subdued by a patron of the local tavern.

The shootings occurred Saturday night within a two-hour span at two residences and the tavern in nearby Ironwood Township.

Eric Pearson, 56-year-old janitor at a local ski lodge, was arrested and charged with the slayings.

Gogebic County Sheriff Chester J. Prebish said Pearson had been drinking heavily and was incoherent when captured at the tavern, where one man was slain and one woman wounded.

The tavern was the last stop on the rampage. The slayer first visited a modern, one-story home about a mile from the tavern. There, four persons including a mother and her daughter were killed in the living room.

A 12-year-old girl, trying to hide in her bedroom closet, was wounded when a bullet was fired through a door. A trail of blood was left throughout the home.

The killer then went to another home, killing one man and wounding the man's wife. The next stop was the tavern.

"He just walked in the door and started shooting. He didn't say a word," said one customer who declined to be identified although he said he was related to the owner of Haulala's Bar.

He said another bar patron, John Niemi, picked up a beer bottle and hit Pearson on the head. Pearson crumpled to the floor and the sheriff's office was called.

Pearson was charged with "being responsible for the deaths of these people," reported Gogebic County Prosecutor Jerome C. Nadolney.

Pearson, held at the county jail in nearby Bessemer, was scheduled to be arraigned on the charge in Justice Court Monday.

Sheriff's deputies were investigating reports that Pearson had been dating one of the slain women.

A widower who stands 6-foot-1 and weighs about 200 pounds, Pearson lived in a cabin on the rugged shores of Lake Superior. Ironwood is situated on the Wisconsin border in extreme western Upper Michigan.

Louis Geller, who manages the ski lodge where Pearson was employed, said the husky outdoorsman "seemed to be a fine person. He showed up to work when he was supposed to. I never saw him take a drink."

Four of the victims died at the home of Mrs. Vienna L. Gustafson, 41. They included Mrs. Gustafson, her mother, Sally Johnson, 61; Mrs. Katherine Rigoni, 59, of Ironwood, and Daniel E. Weiss, 67, of Lansing.

Mrs. Gustafson's 12-year-old daughter, Robin, was critically wounded.

The gunman then went to the home of Raymond Haulala, where Haulala was slain and his wife, Lempi, 61, was wounded. Haulala owned a gas station across from the tavern, the gunman's next stop, and was the brother-in-law of the tavern's owner.

Six Mishaps Investigated On Weekend

No injuries were reported but two drivers were charged with reckless driving in the aftermath of a series of weekend highway accidents.

Kirby C. Klunder, 21, 25 Elliott st., was cited for reckless driving, after his car ran off the side of Crescent Park early Saturday striking a traffic sign and four small trees, borough police said. His car was demolished.

Also charged was William Grigsby, 19, RD 3, Marienville, who ran into the rear of an auto operated by Richard J. Harmon, 30, 59 Simson st., Tonawanda, N.Y. The mishap occurred Sunday afternoon on Pennsylvania ave. at Elm st. State police reported George S. Fox, 21, RD 2, Indiana, Pa., was driving on Rt. 666 south of Barnes early Saturday when he swerved to avoid striking two deer crossing the road and his car crashed down a five foot embankment. Damage was set at $2,000.

Damage was estimated at $1,600 in a two car collision on Rt. 6 west of Clarendon Saturday afternoon. William O. Weidner, 26, 11 North st., Sheffield, swerved to miss a vehicle pulling out in front of him and sideswiped a car parked on the berm, troopers said. The parked car was operated by David Thomas Fink, 33, RD 1, Clarendon.

Borough police reported two other minor accidents Saturday. Judy Wittig, 24, 410 Church st., Corry, standing in traffic on Pennsylvania ave. near Hickory st., backed up to permit a car to back out of a parking spot and struck a car operated by Carol L. Hupp, 36, 104 Woods rd., David R. Wiedmaier, 16, 109 Sixth ave., driving east on Fifth ave. who stopped for the light at the intersection with Market st. He started to turn right and struck a car operated by John L. Seastead, 107 Jackson ave., who had attempted to pass on the right, police said.

Weekend Blazes Keep Volunteer Firemen Busy

Fires over the weekend destroyed a vacant house near Sheffield and caused extensive damage to a home in Clarendon and a camp at Henrys Mills.

Joseph Straziser, owner of the vacant two-story frame dwelling on Austin Hill that burned early Sunday morning, estimated damage at $14,000. He said valuable antiques and a coin collection were lost in the blaze.

Sheffield firemen received a call from a neighbor who spotted the blazing building just before 5 a.m. The flames had flattened the house by the time firefighters arrived. No cause for the fire was determined. It took firemen three hours to extinguish the flames.

A faulty hot water heater was listed as the probable cause of a fire that burned a camp at Henrys Mills south of Sheffield Saturday afternoon. The kitchen and living room were destroyed. Sheffield firemen said. The camp's owner, a Pittsburgh man, had left the cabin about a half hour earlier. The alarm was turned in by a passerby.

Clarendon firemen stood by for the Sheffield department. Fire and smoke damaged the residence of Mrs. Norma Bittner, 300 S. Main st., Clarendon early Saturday morning.

The fire started in a clothes dryer in a utility room at the rear of the house. Clarendon Fire Chief Leonard Falbriski said. Mrs. Bittner's teenage daughters, Tonetta and Juanita, had been using the dryer and were home at the time. A passerby noticed smoke pouring from the back of the house.

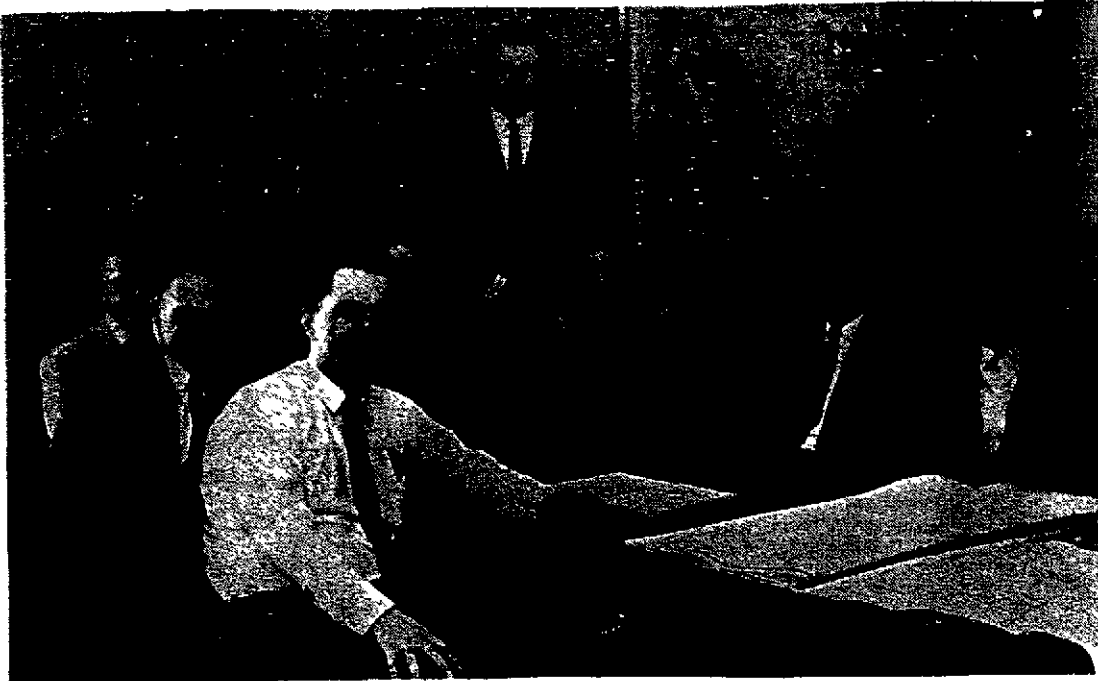

Next Blood Bank Set for March 27

All eligible blood donors are reminded by the Red Cross that the Bloodmobile will visit Youngsville on Wednesday, March 27, between 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Sheffield will also receive a visit that day from 12:00 noon to 5:30 p.m. Call the Red Cross today for an appointment. The number is 723-6000.

RFK Made Decision After LBJ Rejected Vietnam Proposal

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy offered to stay out of presidential contention if President Johnson would appoint a commission with au-

Chautauqua Co. GOPs Schedule Meeting Friday

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — The Chautauqua County Republican Committee will meet Friday to discuss two intra-party fights.

Assemblyman Jess J. Present of Jamestown, who also serves as county GOP chairman, announced Sunday that the committee will meet in Mayville to discuss who should receive the committee's support in the June primary for Family Court authority to change Vietnam war policy, an aide to the senator said Sunday.

But the President turned down the offer, Kennedy's press secretary said, and the New York Democrat went ahead with his Saturday announcement that he will seek to take the Democratic presidential nomination away from Johnson.

This disclosure came a few hours after CBS and ABC and Time and Newsweek magazines put out similar reports.

Press secretary Frank Mankiewicz gave this version of the affair:

Last Monday, at a meeting of Kennedy, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, and Kennedy adviser Theodore Sorensen, the idea arose of appointing a commission with the authority to recommend changes and redirections in Vietnam war policy.

Kennedy said if the commission had the right people—but no names came up—and assurance that Johnson would go along with its recommendation, he would not challenge Johnson for the presidency.

According to Mankiewicz, the President said he would think it over—and said no, late in the week with the stated reason that it would help Hanoi and smack of a political deal in wartime.

Time said it amounted to a Kennedy "ultimatum." CBS said the Kennedy people "insist the commission idea developed only during a mutual back and forth with the White House."

The administration version, CBS said, was that Kennedy demanded that Johnson go on television to state that a complete revision of Vietnam policy was needed and that the commission be appointed from a list of names supplied by Kennedy.

CBS identified the proposed names as historian Edwin Reischauer, former ambassador to Japan; Kingman Brewster, president of Yale University; Roswell Gilpatrick, former deputy secretary of defense under Robert S. McNamara; Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., George Aiken, R-Vt., John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and retired Generals Lauris Norstad and Matthew B. Ridgway.

Time said Kennedy proposed a commission chosen from himself, Brewster, Reischauer, Gilpatrick, Norstad, Ridgway and Carl Kaysen, who was an adviser to President John F. Kennedy on national security affairs.

The versions said Clifford presented the proposal to Johnson at the White House Thursday afternoon, and that the President's rejection was relayed to Kennedy the same day.

Gold

solve the problems, providing they have the desire and courage to do so.

These problems are listed, not necessarily in the order of their importance, as follows:

1. The "balance of payments" problem, which has been the cause of the "gold rush" in part. Our government seems unwilling to take strong and effective measures to correct this condition. A tax on passports and visas, a withdrawal of our armed forces in Europe, a curtailment of investments abroad, a reduction or complete stoppage of loans to foreign countries, the encouragement of foreign tourism to the United States and the stimulus of exports abroad—all are measures which would bring about an equilibrium.

2. Inflation, especially uncontrolled inflation, aided and abetted by irresponsible administrations, both Democratic and Republican, is a moral economic sin. Strong measures in the form of income taxes, excise taxes, budget cuts of programs which can be eliminated or deferred, and price and wage controls, if needed, should be adopted. Higher wages and rising prices should be controlled within certain reasonable standards.

3. Vietnam, Korea and the Far East represent our greatest problem. An early end to the war would substantially reduce our fiscal and monetary problems. Evidence points to a greater commitment in men and resources. Communist leaders must be chukking with glee over our gold predicament. Could it be that they are sapping our economic strength, hoping for financial collapse?

4. Civil disorders in our cities are an extremely grave problem which will require substantial funds and imaginative new programs. It is again unfortunate that this problem cannot be resolved in an area of mutual respect and understanding. Disregard for law is the sort of thing Communism breeds and cultivates to overcome freedom. Good citizenship requires a solution.

The gold crisis will be relieved by temporary measures, but not for long, unless we are willing to solve the problems listed above in a forthright manner. Political considerations if this be possible, should be secondary.

Foreigners everywhere are doubting the value of the dollar only because we appear to be acting like spendthrifts, without taking appropriate measures to control ourselves. World-wide prosperity is at an all-time high, chiefly because the United States has placed the dollar on the line to build a better world in which men may live in freedom.

What does it mean to a person in Warren, Penna., if measures are enacted, probably higher taxes, to improve our spendthrift image? Very little, and the changes will be subtle. We will have less money to spend on luxuries and travel, etcetera, but we will have ample funds to provide for life, health and subsistence. Our dollar will continue to be sound and our free country will prosper.

CD Conference Planned For Area Public Officials

A unique conference on Civil Defense and disaster preparedness will be held March 27, in Erie, at St. John's Lutheran Church, 23rd and Peach sts., for all public officials of the area. Any local, county, or state government official—elected or appointed—is eligible to attend.

The conference, conducted by the staff from Pennsylvania State University and the State Council of Civil Defense, will acquaint this executive group with their responsibilities in the readiness capability of their

No New Cases Over Weekend

No new cases of spinal meningitis were reported at Warren State Hospital over the weekend. Tests on a patient who showed symptoms of the disease on Friday confirmed that he had the disease, a hospital spokesman said.

The new case prompted the hospital to stop all visiting, admissions and discharging of patients until a safe time has been established by the hospital and the state department of health.

All patients and employees have been put on sulfa drugs.

Martin's Estate Set at $1.3 Million

TAUNTON, Mass. (AP) — The will of the late Joseph W. Martin, Jr., twice speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, shows he left an estate valued at $1.3 million.

The will and codicil of Martin, who served in Congress for 42 years, were petitioned for probate Friday at the Bristol County Registry.

Of the $1.3 million, only $25,000 was in real property. The rest is in personal property. Martin was president and publisher of the North Attleboro Chronicle.

Erie Man Charged

Dennis Lee Schall, 21, 713 10th st., Erie, was arrested by state police Friday and charged with car theft. The theft took place March 6.

Justice of the Peace J. K. Lodge set bail at $500 cash or $1,000 property. Schall was remanded to the Warren County Jail until he posted bond Saturday.

Wrong Branch

Sgt. John E. Ishman of Clarendon who was killed in action in Vietnam was a member of the U.S. Army. He was mistakenly identified in Saturday's Times-Mirror and Observer as a Marine. Services for Sgt. Ishman will be held today from the Lutz-VerMilyea Funeral Home.

communities, their departments, or their agencies in the event of natural or nuclear disasters.

The three-hour session, 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. will cover areas of Civil Defense that are vital to everyone concerned with the survival of citizens in natural and nuclear emergency situations. Also, the functions of the various public officials in the development of a local civil defense program will be defined.

To assist the local officials in keeping informed on the Civil Defense program instructions will outline what has, and is, being done in the Commonwealth and in the nation. Also, conferees will be advised of the assistance that is available to them from national, state and local Civil Defense agencies as well as from the Civil Defense University Extension Program of PSU.

There is no fee for the conference since it is sponsored by the U.S. Office of Civil Defense, Department of Defense. Instructional materials are provided without charge to participants.

The State Council of Civil Defense and Pennsylvania State University, in cooperation with the U.S. Office of Civil Defense, are offering the conferences for public officials in addition to their regular state-wide program to train instructors and other skilled personnel for Civil Defense.

Registration forms are available from Kenneth L. Knight, Warren County Civil Defense Director, at the county court house.

THE HOMECARE POISON ANTIDOTE KIT IS A MUST FOR YOUR HOME

Every year more than 500,000 U. S. families report poisoning accidents in the home. Over 90% involve children of five years or younger. The situation is so critical that the President has proclaimed the week of March 16 of each year a National Poison Prevention Week.

What Can You Do To Lessen the Chances of a Poisoning Accident In Your Home?

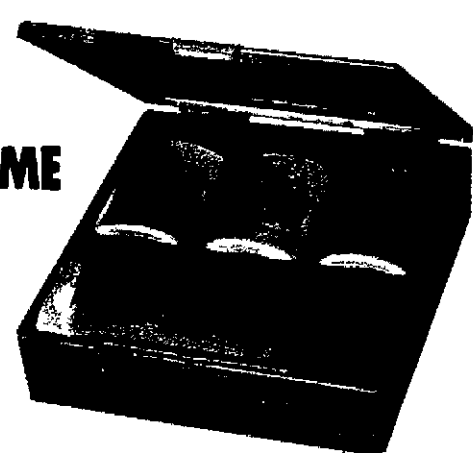

1. Keep all dangerous preparations out of reach of children.
2. Keep a HomeCare Poison Antidote Kit, containing antidotes for common home poisons in a convenient place — such as your medicine chest.

Should accidental poisoning occur in your home, are you prepared? You would be if you had the effective, comprehensive Homecare Poison Antidote Kit. The kit shows you what to do — what compounds to use, how to use them — until professional help arrives. The compact package doesn't take up much space in your medicine cabinet — enables you to keep your instructions and antidotes all in one place for quick use in emergencies.

Teddy Said Don't Run

WASHINGTON—Two of Bobby Kennedy's good friends, his brother Teddy and JFK's close adviser, Ted Sorensen, both advised him against trying to do the unprecedented by denying an incumbent President the right to run for re-election. Never before has either party refused to let a President occupying the White House the right to run again, as Bobby now proposes to do with LBJ.

However, two factors appeared to be more persuasive with Bobby than Sorensen or brother Ted. One was the advice of younger members of his staff; second, the belief that he might not get another crack at the Presidency.

If Johnson were defeated by the Republicans—and the New Hampshire result convinced Bobby that he would be—then it would probably be another eight, possibly twelve or even sixteen years, before a Democrat would have another real chance, Bobby didn't want to wait that long.

In eight to twelve years it would be brother Teddy's turn to make a bid for the White House. What Bobby and youthful friends apparently discounted was the possibility that a battle between him, Gene McCarthy, and the President would so embitter the Democratic party that the only winner would be Richard Nixon.

If the Kennedy millions, backed by such party bosses as California Speaker Jess Unruh, succeed in crushing the poorly financed, youth-sponsored peace campaign of Sen. Gene McCarthy, the anti-Kennedy resentment will become intense. Already it's bitter on the part of the youngsters who marched, rang door bells, and licked stamps to put McCarthy across in New Hampshire.

WASHINGTON — One of the principal causes of the gold crisis that now is threatening world economic chaos is the war in Vietnam. Therefore, it is ironic that the war and its proponents in this country should also be among the principal victims of this opaque and frightening development.

There are several steps President Johnson might take to ease the gold crisis, but adding huge new expenditures to the $26.5 billion to $30 billion already being spent annually in Vietnam is certainly not one of them. Therefore, it has become an economic impossibility to meet the request of General Westmoreland for 206,000 additional troops.

In fact, even without the complication of the gold crisis, the general and the Joint Chiefs probably never expected the President to approve anything like this remarkable demand for 40 per cent more troops than the number Westmoreland said just last November were already winning the war.

But whatever additional steps Mr. Johnson might want to have taken—if any—would now be regarded as one more strain on gold and the dollar. In the international economic community, any major additional expenditure in Vietnam, if authorized without stringent compensating steps elsewhere, would be regarded as more proof that the Johnson Administration cannot or will not put its economic house in order.

It is the belief that this is so that is causing most of the trouble, and the war is at the root of this sentiment. Beginning in 1965, the Administration has pursued its so-called "guns and butter policy" relentlessly, and while this might have been defended as domestic politics, it simply has not made sense economically.

It was in 1965 that the big social expenditures of the Great Society program were authorized. It was also in that year that the escalation of the war in Vietnam, including the sending of the first combat troops, was ordered by the President.

New Star At the Age Of 41

In a black suit, Don Rickles looks like a bellpoint pen. He strides back and forth across the stage of the Casbah Theatre at the Sahara Hotel like a rooster who has just heard what happens to stationary targets. The face is early chimpanzee, but the tongue is pure cobra. At the age of 41, Mr. Rickles is a new star.

His mercurialism is a scaram. Some say he stole it from Jack E. Leonard, who snatched it from Jack White and Frankie Hyers. Perhaps, One thing is certain: Rickles is the fastest-funnest thinking man I have ever seen on a stage. He has no script. His routine is to decimate and devastate his audience and, if you saw him on the Johnny Carson Show, you saw Mr. C fall away from his desk and creep off camera to catch his breath from laughing.

Rickles requires a sophisticated audience. His moves are so swift that some people are two jokes behind. He glances at a sweet old lady, puts on the pseudo-sympathetic smile and shouts: "How ya, Mom? I spoke to the Home. You go Friday." To a husband: "That your wife? Car accident? Throw a stick on the floor; see if she brings it back."

He wears a snarl-smile. Bob Hope walked in late. "What happened? The war over?" Once he asked Sinatra to stop by his table and say hello. Frank didn't want to. "Please, Frank, I'm having dinner with a girl. I have to make an impression," Sinatra agreed.

An hour later, he stopped by Don Rickles' table and murmured: "Hello, Don." Rickles glanced up with a pained expression. "Not now, Frank," he shouted. "I'm with a girl. How the hell do I know how your album's doing?" To Eddie Fisher: "How long can you keep running out to the cemetery yelling to Al Jolson: 'Get up, Al, I need more tunes.'"

Don is a New Yorker. He grew up in Jackson Heights and attended Newtown High School. He was an only child. His father was Max Rickles, an insurance salesman. His mother, Etta, is a real stage mother. She shoved the kid toward the stage and gave him $500 for a two-year course in "How to Act."

The kid tired of it. "One day you're a duck; the next you're a butterfly." He got small engagements, and momma (Etta) stood in the wings to applaud and whistle. In 1947, he was playing The Wayne Room in Washington, a strip-club for sailors, and Rickles was taking abuse. The jibes hurt. He yelled across the footlights: "Shut up, Dummy. When I was in the Navy you were in a basement—wet."

The real career started there. Rickles, a quiet, good-natured man offstage, decided to take a chance trading sarcasm with notables. They loved it. Some club owners didn't. They passed the word: "Don't hire this guy. He insults people. He makes fun of religion."

The critique isn't accurate. Don Rickles is the aging clerk who comes to the office Christmas party, gets stoned, tells the boss off, and slinks back behind his desk the following Monday. Three years ago he met Barbara Sklar, a theatrical agent. She is dark and pretty and sensible. At 38, he cut all the ties—except love—from mother and devoted his life to Barbara.

The baby is Mindy Beth, 21 months old. In her presence, the tough guy melts like a boob. In this case, the baby is the master; he's the slave. He can't even stop her from saying: "I like Buddy Hackett. I like Buddy Hackett." When he isn't on stage, he's with the baby, or on a couch watching television. Rickles loves sports, most of all boxing.

One of his idols was Sugar Ray Robinson. Rickles visited Robinson's training camp before the Gene Fullmer fight. Robinson was executing his fancy rope-skipping trip when Don stuck his hand out. "Not now, Kid," said Robinson. "Can't you see I'm busy?" Don had a ringside seat at the fight. Fullmer punched the head off Robinson. He sagged against the ropes. "Hey, Ray!" shouted Rickles. "Do your rope trick." Rickles' personal manager is an old friend, Joe Scandore. Mr. S. has worked his boy up from a $250 a week job to close to $400,000 a year. Don and Barbara have no palatial home. They have an apartment in Long Beach, Long Island, and one in West Los Angeles. Barbara banks the bundle.

It isn't easy to beat this man to the draw. Dean Martin did. "Don," he said. "I think you're great. But don't go by what I say—I'm drunk." . . .

Democrats Real Active

Pennsylvania News Service HARRISBURG—A veteran Republican member of the House of Representatives met a staff employee of the Democratic caucus in the elevator the other morning.

"What kind of a bombshell are you going to hit us with today?" he moaned.

The fact is Democrats have indeed been extremely active for a minority in the past few weeks, suggesting programs, calling for investigations, promising support for some GOP programs and offering alterations in others.

This is a bit in contrast to the Republican side, which as this column has pointed out recently, is not really a majority, inasmuch as it takes 102 votes to pass a bill in the House and the GOP has only 101 votes.

Democrats seem to have used the two-month recess, caused by the Constitutional Convention, well and were able to swing into action quickly when the House returned.

On the other hand the Republican side wasn't entirely idle. The GOP leadership offered a plan for a Citizens Committee to study legislative modernization, and there were committee meetings during the two-month recess. But lack of action is readily apparent when the House's "action calendar" is perused for the past week. The only thing of any significance that was considered was the teachers' pay raise and it is up to the majority party (which controls the House apparatus) to make sure the House has work to do.

A bit in contrast, legislative Democrats offered a modernization plan that included changes that can be put into effect immediately. The minority leadership came out early for increases in teachers' wages. Representative Herbert Fineman, House Democratic Leader, called for quick action on a large number of problems, both before and after the recess. In a statement before and a speech after the recess, he even promised help for many Republican programs.

For example, he called for an investigation into the Delaware River Port Authority—which is strictly a local problem. But two other Democrats, Representatives Milton Berkes and James J. A. Gallagher, both of Levittown, called for a probe into the administration and enforcement of the state's narcotics laws—an investigation that seems merited by their evidence. And Representative Edward L. Dardanel, D-Pittsburgh, was able to get bipartisan sponsorship of a resolution to investigate the State Colleges situation. (Three presidents of State Colleges have resigned recently—two of them under fire.)

Representative K. Leroy Irvis, Democratic Whip and the ranking Negro in the House, called for immediate action on the Civil Rights front. He hit the nail on the head when he said: "The time to stop the long, hot summer is now—during the long, cold winter."

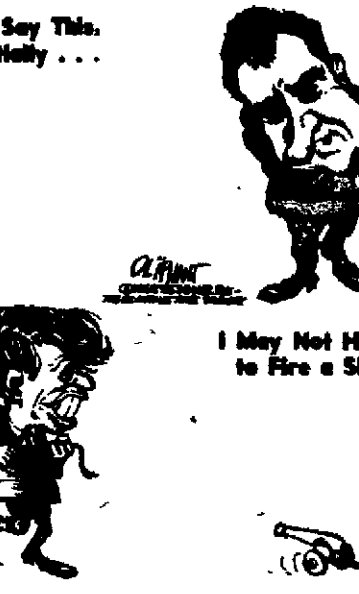

When the House passed the ethics bill, Mr. Fineman's speech on the subject got most of the newspaper "play" for the Democrats! Two other Democrats, Representatives Norman Benson, Philadelphia, and Robert C. Wise, Williamsport, moved immediately to add a new lobbyist regulation bill to the reform bills going through the House.

Perhaps the Republicans got a little "dingy" about the situation since the Democrats were coming up with the bombshells the GOP had mentioned. And perhaps that is the reason for the sudden flare-up on the floor.

Clearly Rockefeller begins his campaign with many voters regarding his position on foreign affairs very much a question mark. It has been three years since the governor made his position on Vietnam clear. As he enters the race more actively, the test of Nelson Rockefeller will be whether he can maintain his advantage of today on the dimension of personal confidence as he spells out what he would do about the war in Vietnam. The test for Richard Nixon will be his ability to convince people he is the man to fill what many see as a confidence gap in Washington.

Democrats Real Active

Pennsylvania News Service HARRISBURG—A veteran Republican member of the House of Representatives met a staff employee of the Democratic caucus in the elevator the other morning.

"What kind of a bombshell are you going to hit us with today?" he moaned.

The fact is Democrats have indeed been extremely active for a minority in the past few weeks, suggesting programs, calling for investigations, promising support for some GOP programs and offering alterations in others.

This is a bit in contrast to the Republican side, which as this column has pointed out recently, is not really a majority, inasmuch as it takes 102 votes to pass a bill in the House and the GOP has only 101 votes.

Democrats seem to have used the two-month recess, caused by the Constitutional Convention, well and were able to swing into action quickly when the House returned.

On the other hand the Republican side wasn't entirely idle. The GOP leadership offered a plan for a Citizens Committee to study legislative modernization, and there were committee meetings during the two-month recess. But lack of action is readily apparent when the House's "action calendar" is perused for the past week. The only thing of any significance that was considered was the teachers' pay raise and it is up to the majority party (which controls the House apparatus) to make sure the House has work to do.

A bit in contrast, legislative Democrats offered a modernization plan that included changes that can be put into effect immediately. The minority leadership came out early for increases in teachers' wages. Representative Herbert Fineman, House Democratic Leader, called for quick action on a large number of problems, both before and after the recess. In a statement before and a speech after the recess, he even promised help for many Republican programs.

For example, he called for an investigation into the Delaware River Port Authority—which is strictly a local problem. But two other Democrats, Representatives Milton Berkes and James J. A. Gallagher, both of Levittown, called for a probe into the administration and enforcement of the state's narcotics laws—an investigation that seems merited by their evidence. And Representative Edward L. Dardanel, D-Pittsburgh, was able to get bipartisan sponsorship of a resolution to investigate the State Colleges situation. (Three presidents of State Colleges have resigned recently—two of them under fire.)

Representative K. Leroy Irvis, Democratic Whip and the ranking Negro in the House, called for immediate action on the Civil Rights front. He hit the nail on the head when he said: "The time to stop the long, hot summer is now—during the long, cold winter."

When the House passed the ethics bill, Mr. Fineman's speech on the subject got most of the newspaper "play" for the Democrats! Two other Democrats, Representatives Norman Benson, Philadelphia, and Robert C. Wise, Williamsport, moved immediately to add a new lobbyist regulation bill to the reform bills going through the House.

Johnson Is The Issue

WASHINGTON — There is a certain logic, even a kind of inevitability, in the convulsive events of the last few days. The war was going too badly, the monetary system getting into too much trouble, the race issue becoming too ominous, and the anxiety among the people rising too steeply to suppose that we could avoid a major crisis.

The only surprising thing is that all these critical issues should come to a head within a few days. The Kennedy Committee report on the cities, the Westmoreland request for another 206,000 men, the revolt in the Foreign Relations Committee, the uprising for McCarthy in New Hampshire, and finally Robert Kennedy's announcement for the Presidency, all have a common theme—there is a crisis of confidence in President Johnson's policies at home and abroad, which must be removed by the President, or by events, or by the people at the polls in November.

More than likely, events will be the decisive factor. The important thing now is not that Kennedy is in the race, or what this will do to McCarthy and Johnson, but what will happen to the issues that brought Kennedy and McCarthy into the conflict between now and the nominating conventions and the election itself.

If Westmoreland regains the initiative and the President can show that there really is substantial progress toward a resolution of the war by mid-summer, if the gold rush is stemmed, and a major racial conflict is avoided this summer, even a combination of Kennedy's and McCarthy's strength is not likely to deny the renomination of the President at Chicago.

If, however, we continue to stumble from one crisis to another, this could produce such a general sense of unease in the country and such widespread gloom among the delegates that there could be a revolt in the Democratic convention. This could happen, though an incumbent President has not been denied renomination—if he wanted it—since 1884; but if it does this time, it will probably be because of unseen events and not because of the actions of Senators McCarthy and Kennedy.

They can merely dramatize our present plight and provide an alternate course for the Democrats in Chicago. It will be a vicious and arduous campaign, but it will bring out the issues and, though it will be hard on the nerves, it need not be bad for the country.

Hard-fought crisis politics have their uses. The problems of the war, the races, and the dollar have all been around for everybody to see, but it took the Tet offensive in Vietnam, the riots in the cities, the closing of the gold markets, and the challenge of McCarthy and Kennedy to bring them into sharp focus for the general public.

The main thing, therefore, is not the tactics of the campaign but the issues of the campaign. Johnson and his policies are, and always have been, the central question. Now this will be clear for all to choose, and already in the crisis we have had McCarthy, Kennedy and hopefully Rockefeller come forward so that the nation will have a wider choice of men and issues.

Perhaps the first result of Kennedy's announcement is to assure that the President will stay in the race. Maybe there was never a chance that he would withdraw, though a few of his most intimate friends were not so sure. Now he has been challenged, and challenged by a Kennedy; this is not the kind of thing that Lyndon Johnson is likely to avoid.

It is not right to say, as some of the McCarthy supporters are saying, that Kennedy adds nothing but division to the race. He adds passion, for one thing. He will more than double the publicity for the opposition. He will add a highly talented and vigorous young staff. And, of course, he will add more contention and maybe more division to the Democratic party, if that is possible, but this is the party's not the nation's first concern.

The main question is where are we going under Johnson. Those who like the present course can go along if they choose, or follow him on another course, if he can find one. But the voters as a whole will now have a choice which is broad enough so that everybody ought to be able to argue it out within the established political system.

Clearly Rockefeller begins his campaign with many voters regarding his position on foreign affairs very much a question mark. It has been three years since the governor made his position on Vietnam clear. As he enters the race more actively, the test of Nelson Rockefeller will be whether he can maintain his advantage of today on the dimension of personal confidence as he spells out what he would do about the war in Vietnam. How County Legislators Voted

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG — This is how Warren County lawmakers voted on major legislation in Harrisburg during the past week of March 11-15 (Representative W. W. Allen, Tidoute and Senator Richard C. Frame, Franklin):

In the House of Representatives:
H-1837 amendment (Defeated) providing that voters lined up outside a voting place at poll closing time on election day be permitted to cast their votes (as opposed to current proviso of the bill providing those outside the polling place at closing time be permitted to vote). (Allen - No);

H-1846 (Passed). Change provisions relating to the filling of vacancies on election boards by providing for the filling of vacancies by the Board of Elections rather than the Court of Quarter Sessions as at present, and stipulating that should the board fail to fill the vacancy within five days the county common pleas court, on petition, may fill the vacancy. (Allen - Yes);

H-2287 (Passed). Increase teacher starting salary from $4500 to $5400 and provide an across-the-board $500 increase for all teachers and professional employees during the 1968-69 school year and up the statewide minimum salary to $6000 during the 1969-70 school year. (Allen-Yes);

Proposed amendment to H-2287 (Defeated) which would provide financial aid to non-public private and parochial schools via using a portion of the state cigarette tax to establish an authority to "purchase" secular instruction from such nonpublic schools. (Allen - No);

S-569 (Passed). Require all new hunters under the age of 16 years to undergo a State Game Commission-approved course of instruction in the safe handling of firearms, exclusive of those who previously held a license in Pennsylvania or elsewhere. (Allen - Yes);

S-770 (Passed). Amend the "Game Law" by authorizing the issuance of archery licenses by agents designated by the Department of Revenue, and increasing the agent's fee. (Allen - Yes);

In the Senate:
S-1273 (Passed). Extend provisions of the "Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Act" to include peaches and milk. (Frame - Yes);

S-1304 (Passed). Further providing for the payment of compensation to commissioners of first class townships. (Frame - Yes);

S-1305 (Passed). Amend the "County Code" by authorizing the chief deputy coroner to act as coroner and the chief deputy sheriff to act as sheriff in cases of vacancies in the two offices. (Frame - Yes);

H-959 (Passed). Reduce the minimum number of hours that traveling registrars are required to sit. (Frame - Yes);

H-1409 (Passed). Provide for the collection of the cost of removing nuisances in second class townships. (Frame - Yes);

H-1401 (Passed). Changing provisions of the "First Class Township Code" relating to protests by property owners of construction of sewer and drain systems. (Frame - Yes);

H-1509 (Passed). Change the residence requirements for police and paid fire apparatus applicants in first class townships. (Frame - Yes);

H-1533 (Passed). Authorize any life insurance company organized under Pennsylvania law to invest in a limited partnership. (Frame - Yes).

Three Escapees Back in Jail

TOWANDA, Pa. (AP)—Three of seven escapees from the Bradford County Jail here were back behind bars Sunday while police in New York and Pennsylvania continued a search for the others.

The seven, all being held on burglary or larceny charges, escaped Friday night through a skylight in a jail corridor, said Bradford County Sheriff Frank Detrick.

First to be captured was a Helmut Wraga, 19, of Waverly, N.Y. He was picked up Saturday after a foot chase by Pennsylvania State Police near South Waverly, Pa., said Detrick.

Clifford Bump, 26, and Kenneth D. Stone Jr., 20, of Route 2, Towanda, were captured by New York State Police in a woods near Chemung, N.Y., on Saturday night.

DPI Will Study Sugar Grove Addition

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG—The State Department of Public Instruction said yesterday it has been requested by Warren County School Board to make a study of capacities of schools in Warren County School District to determine the feasibility of building an addition to Sugar Grove elementary school, suggested by the school district.

According to the application for the study the addition to the school would contain two classrooms, bringing to a total of 15 such units in the school.

The county school board listed the probable cost of the project at $70,000 to be financed by issuing general obligation bonds.

School district officials told the department they would enter into construction, should department approval be received, without prior assurance of reimbursement from state funds of eligible costs of the project.

It was pointed out that this procedure would eliminate delays in getting the project underway since reimbursement assurance is given only after a department project number is reached in its order.

Department officials said that state funds would be made available however, after the indicated number is reached regardless of the status of construction at that time.

At dusk great flocks of starlings roost on federal buildings in Washington, where fancy ornamentations and classic columns make perfect perches.

Old Concept of Communism Doesn't Fit New Czechs

P R A G U E, Czechoslovakia (AP) — The old Western concept of communism, born of the cold war, does not apply in the new Czechoslovakia.

The cliches ring off key in this land where a pro-Stalinist general took off for the United States, and a top honor graduate of the Moscow party academy heads the most amazing liberalization drive the Soviet camp has seen in more than a decade.

The old yardstick does not work in a country where the chief of state is accused of involvement in Stalinist crimes but retains his post because the new leaders are using democratic rules in their campaign to get rid of the old guard.

To top it all, the unprecedented struggle for control in this Communist nation is freely covered by press, radio and television, with few holds barred.

The defection of Maj. Gen. Jan Sejna, the dramatic suicide of Deputy Defense Minister Vladimir Janko, plus the flood of "now-at-can-be-told" stories of crime and conspiracy are hard to believe.

The 15 million people of this "westernmost outpost of Soviet power"—as an old description referred to Czechoslovakia—watch in wonder. Many are dazed, and many scared.

Some recall how the 1956 Budapest uprising was crushed by Soviet tanks. Others fear the old guard may regain power and take revenge on those who vilified them.

But the reformists seem well entrenched. And what happens in Prague these days cannot be compared with the Hungarian revolt, Czech culture is closely tied to the West. But by historic tradition, Czechs are not anti-Russian. In this country's last free election, the Communists polled more than a third of all votes.

While encouraging free discussion, the new leaders stress that the close ties with the Soviet Union are vital to this country.

"It is not absolutely necessary that you love the Russians, young friend," party Presidium member Josef Smrkovsky told a listener asking him about future Prague-Moscow relations.

"But when you get home I suggest you take a look at the map and trace our borders. I would say that if the Soviet Union did not exist I would fear for the future of our country."

Soviet bloc allies have retrained from reaction to the Czechoslovak democratization drive.

"We need Soviet support if we are to succeed," one influential reformist Czech source said.

State Pays $88,571 For Medical Needy

HARRISBURG — Payments for medically needy Warren County residents not on public assistance totaled $88,571 during January, the State Department of Public Welfare said yesterday — or $81,517 more than payments made a year ago.

Inpatient hospital care for January totaled $4340 embracing 19 countians. The program also paid for nursing care in the home for two persons amounting to $28. State institutions for mentally ill cared for 538 persons under the Medical Assistance program and received $83,522 in payments. The health service bills of 20 Warren countians for other services, including doctors, dentists, pharmacists and ambulances, were also paid by the state program totaling $681.

Hospital care was paid for seven countians on public assistance, at a cost of $2148 during January, plus payments including $750 for physicians' services, $269 for clinic services, $1833 for prescribed drugs and $104 for visiting nurses' services.

Warren County applications for medical assistance in behalf of medically needy persons not receiving cash grants received by the department during January totaled 59. In addition there were 24 applications filed prior to January and still awaiting final disposition. Of the 83 requests, the department authorized payments for 50 persons and denied 11 other requests.

A GAS WATER HEATER IS GOOD TO THE LAST TOT.

Mom did a huge laundry, a couple sinkfuls of dishes and Sis used a tub-and-a-half of hot water for her bath. Then came baby's bath. After that, Dad and his shower. As Dad began his sixteenth chorus of The Road to Mandalay, Junior's hopes soared. This might be the night. The night they ran out of hot water!

Not a chance! Not with a Gas water heater.

But cheer up Junior. A Gas water heater isn't all bad. Since it does the job at about one-half the cost of heating water electrically, the money a Gas water heater saves in a single year could buy someone a brand new bicycle. Someone who takes his bath without a big fuss.

THINK OF ALL THE THINGS YOU CAN DO WITH THE MONEY YOU SAVE. GAS MAKES THE BIG DIFFERENCE.

SPRING HOUSECLEANING? IRONING? DISHES IN THE SINK? Any other minor problems? Ignore them—Spring is just around the corner, it's time to kick up your heels, dream a little, have some fun, get away from it all! This can be done at the YWCA on Thursday evening, March 21st, at 7:30 when Mrs. James Rogan will be there to take you back to a time when whaling ships roamed the Seven Seas, and women, anxiously gazing out to sea, waited for the return of their menfolk, as they paced back and forth on little porch-like structures topping their houses. (Later known as the "Widow's Walk" the structures can be seen even today crowning some of Warren's older houses—And since, not by the stretch of one's wildest imagination could they be said to overlook even the Allegheny River in some instances, let alone the sea, this just goes to prove that what was utilitarian for sea-faring men and their families, was only an architectural whim or fancy inland.) It is those years that will be touched by Mrs. Rogan, since her subject of "Antique Glass Oil Lamps" concerns itself with a household commodity that was then the only means of lighting in homes all over the land, other than candles, of course. Now, the few lamps that are left are considered collectors items and people spend hours browsing in antique shops hunting for these treasures—Besides talking about the lamps, Mrs. Rogan will have her own collection on display. The public is invited; the fee is 50 cents. For reservations call the YWCA at 723-6350.

LWV Unit Meetings This Week

The outstanding accomplishments of the Constitutional Convention will be the topic of discussion at the twounit meetings of the League of Women Voters of the Warren Area this week. Presenting the material to the membership will be Mrs. Donald Witkin, Constitutional Revision chairman for the local League and Mrs. Walter H. Bergler.

The League believes that the endorsement of the questions by the voters will represent substantial progress toward our goal of complete revision of Pennsylvania's Constitution. The League will support the five Constitutional questions and will work actively to promote their passage at the polls April 23.

The unit meetings will be held at the YWCA Tuesday evening at 8 and Thursday morning at 9:30. All area women are cordially invited to attend either of the duplicate unit meetings. Discussion leader on Tuesday evening will be Mrs. David A. Smith. Mrs. James Potter will lead the Thursday morning discussion. A baby sitting service available Thursday.

Miss Patricia Ann Loding Becomes Bride In California

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Loding, 89 Bauer street, Ext., Warren, announce the marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann (formerly of 99 Parker Drive, Pittsburgh), to Tony N. Tjersland, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dagfinn Tjersland of Los Altos, California.

The candlelight wedding was held at the Brookdale, California, Redwood Chapel, near San Francisco, Saturday evening, March 16, with the Rev. H. Earl Morris, Jr. of the First Methodist Church officiating. For the twilight ceremony, the bride wore an A-line dress of yellow silk shantung with portrait neckline. A matching coat and eggshell white accessories completed the ensemble. Her flowers were gold and white tea roses in a Juliet bouquet.

The bride chose Mrs. William D. Kiper of San Diego, sister of the groom, as matron of honor. Mr. Charles W. Schenk, Jr., of Mountain View, Calif., served as best man. Following the ceremony, a reception and dinner was held for members of the wedding party and friends at the Brookdale Lodge.

A third generation native of Warren, the new Mrs. Tjersland is a 1958 graduate of Warren Area High School. She is also a graduate of the secretarial-finishing course at Point Park Junior College, Pittsburgh. Prior to her marriage, the bride was employed as a secretary in the Public Relations Department of United States Steel Corporation. The groom, a native Californian, is a graduate of the College of San Mateo, and received an AB degree in public administration from San Francisco State College in 1962. He was graduated from Colorado State University with an MA degree in Political Science in 1967. He is also a 1963 graduate fellow of Coro Foundation's Internship in Public Affairs in Los Angeles; past student president of the College of San Mateo, San Francisco State College, and the California State College Student Presidents Association.

A former planner for the Governor's Advisory Committee on California Children and Youth, and graduate research fellow of Resources for the Future, Department of the Interior, Mr. Tjersland served for two years on active duty with the U.S. Navy in the Far East. He joined U.S. Steel in New York in 1967 and is now field representative for the Western District Public Relations Office of U.S. Steel in San Francisco.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am sure you receive many letters from wives whose husbands sock them around from time to time. Have you ever heard from a husband who gets slapped, kicked and punched? Well, this is my problem and I need to know what to do about it. We have three small children and if I ever lose control of myself and give my wife what she deserves she'll be in the hospital for a month.

You probably want to know why she hits me. Here's what set off the last two episodes: She forgot where she parked the car and I had to ride around town in a taxi for an hour before I found it. When I got home I was disgusted and told her so. She socked me in the jaw and broke my bridge.

Last night when I came home from work the soup was burning on the stove and my wife was next door visiting with a friend. I gave her a piece of my mind and she hauled off and kicked me. Now I have a lump on my leg the size of a golf ball.

If anyone had told me I would wind up writing to Ann Landers for help I would have said they were crazy, but I need someone to tell me what to do about this wild woman. —H.B.L.

DEAR H.B.L.: You don't have three children, Mister, you have four. A woman who has such a short fuse needs to learn how to handle her hostilities in a rational, civilized manner. Insist that she get counseling. I feel sorry for those kids as well as for you. Rest assured they catch plenty in your absence. Your doctor can direct you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm almost ashamed to write because my problem makes me sound like a moron, but the truth is I am being victimized by a five-year-old child.

Almost every evening when I come home from work this little neighbor girl is standing outside my door. I live in an apartment. Sally is a darling child, and I enjoy her company, but there are times when I would like to be alone. More often than not Sally asks me if she can stay for supper and I say yes. If I didn't lead her by the hand and take her home at 8:00 p.m., she would stay all night.

It seems strange to me that her parents never seem to be looking for her. When I bring her home they are very pleasant and thank me for being so "nice."

Last night I was very tired, and didn't want company so I thought I'd sneak in the back door. I wasn't in my apartment five minutes when Sally and her mother appeared at the door. The mother said, "Your girl friend wants to see you."

I pretended to be pleased because I didn't want to hurt the child's feelings. Again Sally stayed for supper and when I took her home at 7:45 I was mad at myself. What's the solution to my problem, Ann? —TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: The little girl isn't victimizing you, her mother is. Unless you extricate yourself from this weird situation you may be stuck with it until Sally gets married.

Tell the mother (privately, of course) that there are times when you need to be alone after work—that you will come and get Sally when you want her and please not to allow her to wait at your door. If the child turns up, anyway, take her by the hand and return her to her mother.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage—What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze and You—For Teen-Agers Only" by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Trinity Memorial To Sponsor Lenten Series

Trinity Memorial Episcopal Church invites members and their friends to a series of three Lenten talks revolving around the theme of the Christian in the contemporary world.

The first speaker, March 20, will be the Venerable Roy J. Schaffer, archdeacon of the Episcopal Diocese of Erie.

The archdeacon has been deeply involved in urban redevelopment and racial issues in Erie. He will discuss Christian involvement in social problems.

On March 27 the speaker will be the Rt. Rev. William Crittenden, bishop of the Diocese of Erie.

The bishop has traveled widely and will discuss the role of the churchman in world affairs. Attention will not be focused on Vietnam, although the bishop has been to this troubled area and will naturally touch upon it in his talk, but rather on the many world situations confronting the Christian today wherever he may be.

The speaker April 3 will be Warren L. Starrett, canon theologian of the diocese and consultant on Christian education, who has long been interested and involved in the developing and evolving theology of today. He will discuss the current ferment in theology.

The canon is also a member of the faculty of Gannon College.

During the talks there will be a special program for children related to the Lenten series. Members of the Trinity Youth Fellowship will be in charge and will show films procured from the library in Pittsburgh through the cooperation of the Warren Public Library, one of the many excellent services offered by the local library.

The Wednesday evening sessions will start with a tureen dinner at 6:15. On March 20 it will be sponsored by Trinity Women with Miss Rose Maybank and Mrs. Richard Hansen as co-chairmen. Mrs. William Ball will be in charge when the Church Choir sponsors the dinner March 27 and Mrs. John Donaldson for the Church School staff on April 3.

Following the dinner there will be a service of Evening Prayer in the church, during which the junior choir will sing, prior to the talks.

The public is cordially invited to attend all or any part of these special evening sessions.

JEANNE ELIZABETH BOOK August Wedding Date Is Named

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Book of 409 Poplar street announce the engagement of their daughter, Jeanne Elizabeth, to William Legg, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Legg of 9810 Penn avenue, Bloomington, Minnesota.

Miss Book is a 1966 graduate of Warren Area High School, and a 1967 graduate of Humboldt Institute in Minneapolis. She is presently employed with Northwest Airlines at the St. Paul-Minneapolis Airport. Her fiancé is a 1963 graduate of Bloomington Senior High School, attended the University of Minnesota and completed three years of service in the U.S. Army. He is now employed with Control Data Corporation in Bloomington, Minnesota.

The wedding will be solemnized in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Warren, on August 3.

Saeger Brown Circle Busy Unit

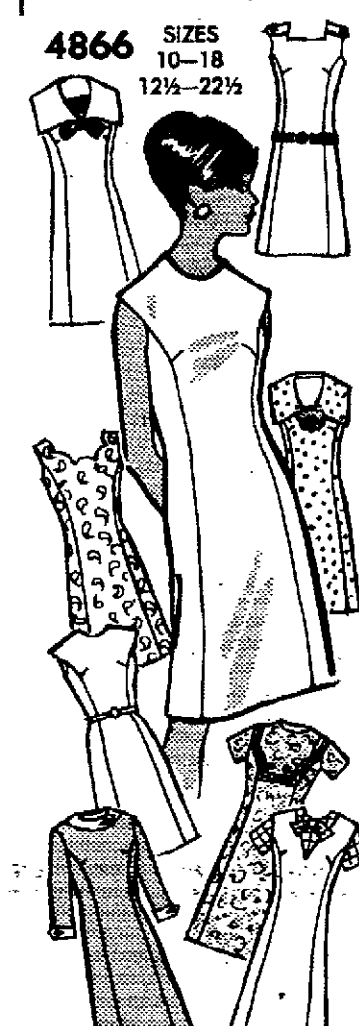

The Saeger Brown Circle of Grace Methodist Church held their March meeting in Fellowship Hall of the church.

Following devotions by Mrs. Gail Hinber, the business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Franklin Higgins. It was voted to have a luncheon and presentation of officers in May in lieu of the regular meeting. Mrs. Peter Smith reported on her correspondence with the circle missionary at the Saeger Brown School.

A program concerning Lenten observances throughout the world was presented by Mrs. John Berdine.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Harrington, Mrs. Peter Smith and Mrs. Dorman Swanson.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠K2 ♥K87 ♦AJ102 ♣Q1092
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♦ Dble. Redble. 1 ♥
 Pass 2 ♥ 2 ♦ Pass
 2 NT Pass 3 ♦ Pass

What do you bid now?
 A.—Four clubs. Partner has shown a distaste for no trump, so it would be foolish to persist in that direction. You have a good fit for the clubs and should show it.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠K10 ♥KQ1074 ♦J54 ♣53
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
 1 NT Pass 2 ♦ Pass
 2 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Three hearts. A try for game is in order even though partner has already announced a minimum opening. The significant fact is that North did not pass your two diamond bid which he was at perfect liberty to do.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠74 ♥63 ♦A10862 ♣AKQJ
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♦ Pass
 2 ♣ Pass 3 ♣ Pass
 4 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—You have better than an opening bid and partner has opened and jumped. This spells a slam which you should bid forthwith. The prescribed call is six hearts. North has not only opened and jumped but, in the meantime, shown great strength by his bid of two spades, technically known as a "reverse."

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠2 ♥J754 ♦Q1084 ♣KJ73
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 ♥ 1 ♠ Dble. ?

What do you bid?
 A.—This does not appear to be a propitious place for the hand to play. A rescue bid of one no trump is in order, in that it suggests to partner to rescue himself in either diamonds or clubs, whichever he prefers, since obviously you are short in spades and have length in the other three suits.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠AQ104 ♥32 ♦65 ♣QJ865
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1 ♥ 2 ♦ ?

What do you bid?
 A.—Pass. If you mention either of your suits, partner will probably be cornered into bidding three hearts which will place you in a highly awkward position. With a free bid tends to project the bidding to the three level, the player contemplating such action should be backed up by a holding which is equal to an opening bid.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠AKQJ93 ♥104 ♦A1065 ♣3
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass
 3 ♦ Pass 3 NT Pass

What do you bid now?
 A.—Four spades. Hope for slam is not abandoned by the four spade bid. The very fact that you took pains to bid three diamonds, intending all the time to take partner out of his aggressively bid game contract, indicates your willingness to maintain the idea of a slam. If his points are first rate (aces and kings), he may proceed.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠AQJ64 ♥7 ♦A865 ♣1072
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass
 2 ♣ Pass 3 ♣ Pass
 3 ♦ Pass 3 ♣ Pass

What do you bid now?
 A.—Four diamonds. Do not make the mistake of bidding three no trump. Partner was in position to make that call himself, but bid hearts instead. When you return to diamonds partner will be able to infer that your holding probably contains a singleton.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠10963 ♥J832 ♦K6 ♣A93
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1 ♠ Dble. ?

What do you bid?
 A.—Pass. This holding falls just short of the requirements for a redouble. An immediate raise should be offered only on a hand with less high card strength and more distributional values. You are forced to compromise by passing to the time being with every intention of offering competition on the next round.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR MONDAY, MARCH 18, 1968:

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—There's much more to this day than may meet the casual eye. Search out the advantages, for they may be hidden, but happily far-reaching. Use your personality to sway—of course, in the proper way.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Large-scale dealings, trusts, engineering, building and agriculture can advance under astute management. But there will be moments for very hard work, and for unwavering faith in your goals. GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Be careful in conversations with the opposite sex. Neither be cagey nor tell all. With discretion, you can gain the foothold of confidence and straight-shooting you want from others.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Redouble your energies for the things to be handled before this week runs out, else you will be, as you have been before, rushed, overcrowded. Before making decisions, contemplate calmly.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—You will face improving conditions in some spots, aggravating complexities elsewhere. To know what to do and say at the right time will be the key to serenity, success.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Advocate what you believe appropriate, then wait for others to take their stand. A give-and-take day that needs organization, cooperation and consideration in all matters.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Undeterred by fear, you can be a source of strength from which others shall be raised to better deeds and ambitions. Report what you see fit, yet be duly modest announcing policy, decisions.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—The position of Mars, fairly favorable, suggests that you go over your schedule once more before getting into it. You may wish to take out something, put something in. A new week gives fresh incentive.

SAGITTARIUS (November 24 to December 21)—Line up all the "musts" and take everything in order. Confusion comes from acting at will, not by day's governing factors. Emphasize accuracy. CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Note Sagittarius. Your advice similar under present aspects. In all matters, take care not to overdo or appraise without knowing all facts.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Avoid letting feelings motivate actions, and do not think about past errors in the light of "probably making them again!" Think, reason—and be enthusiastic!

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—An auspicious day. Go after whatever is worthwhile and worth the added vigor you can give it. Difficult work and developing new devices especially favored.

YOU BORN TODAY: Here is the quick and perceptive thinker. But will you always make the most of your findings? This makes the difference between the successful and the mediocre Piscean. Your selective mind dictates, so follow up with persistence and even plodding where the ground is "heavy." You are talented in educational and mechanical fields; in architecture, building, creative in writing; a stirring speaker. You enjoy new methods, are fond of music, entertainment, travel. Birth date of: Wm. Jennings Bryan, Amer. statesman.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases. BATHROOM CRITICS

Several months ago I wrote about updating the bathroom to make it safer and more comfortable. Our original report was based on a study by Prof. Alexander Kira of Cornell University. Some readers and members of the plumbing fraternity raked us over the coals. But before replying to their comments, we did additional research on that mundane part of the American scene most of us take for granted.

We found that most of the critics mistook baths for bathrooms. Our article referred to appliances such as tub, shower, sink, and toilet. One man took exception to the following statement: "Indoor plumbing was introduced 50 years ago." He assured us that in 1900 everyone had indoor plumbing.

For the record, less than 35 years ago, not all city dwellers enjoyed modern conveniences. In some homes, a nightly jaunt required dressing in clothing that might be worn by a member of Adm. Byrd's Antarctic expedition.

One suggestion offered by Prof. Kira was lowering the toilet. This set up a clamor among victims of arthritis. A lady from Kansas wrote: "Not a lower seat, please; just add a movable footstool." She also added: "No pal, forget about scaling fixtures to accommodate persons of one size."

A Minnesota resident wrote that so far as she was concerned: "Claw-footed tubs of yesterday, perched gingerly on a pedestal, needed no improvement." Another reader offered her opinion on the bidet which is so popular in France. "Leave that gadget in France, where it belongs." An eastern plumbing inspector wrote: "Modernistic fixtures meet health specifications and are attractive, so why change the designs?"

Even the most critical readers agreed to the man on one point: Baths are relaxing and therapeutic, whether one is immersed in an elaborate marble fixture or in the plain porcelain tub.

TOMORROW: Diagnostic Scans. Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

MENIERE'S SYNDROME A reader writes: My doctor says the fluid in my ears is not balanced and this is causing dizziness. Can you tell me about this condition?

REPLY: Dizziness of this type usually stems from waterlogging in the semi-circular canals (vestibular apparatus) of the ears. I presume this is what your physician means. This is why dehydration drugs are recommended occasionally for relief.

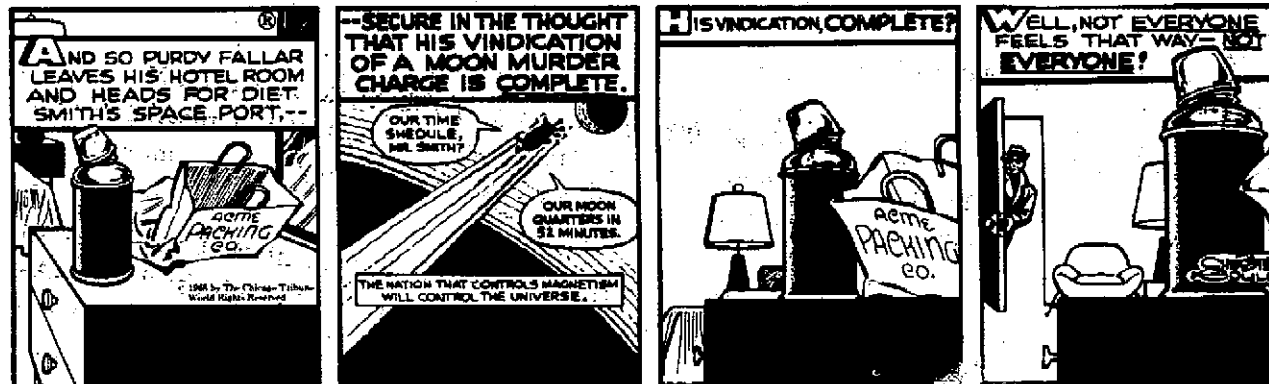

PERIODIC HIVES Mrs. E. writes: For six months I have been getting hives on the hands and feet. What can I do?

REPLY: Temporary relief can be obtained with an antihistamine, or one of the corticosteroids. You would do well to try to find and eliminate the causative allergen.

DIGESTING STARCH F. M. writes: Do starchy foods cause indigestion?

REPLY: I doubt it, but indigestion can be caused by so many things that starchy foods must be the culprits in some instances.

THE PENNSYLVANIA BANK AND TRUST COMPANY

MARCH 18, 1918 -- MARCH 18, 1968

Celebrating 50 Years of Growth Today!

THE PENNSYLVANIA BANK AND TRUST COMPANY

WARREN, PENNSYLVANIA 16365

Ben McEnteer,

President

Dear Friends:

Today marks the 50th Anniversary of this bank. It was on March 18, 1918, that Mr. James Curtis McKinney founded the Titusville Trust Company, predecessor to The Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Company.

In reflecting upon the last 50 years, it is evident that the story of this bank has been one of growth, both financially and physically. As the chart at the right indicates, the bank's total resources have increased from less than $2 million dollars that first year to almost $73 million today. From one office in Titusville, we have expanded to eight offices serving four Northwestern Pennsylvania counties.

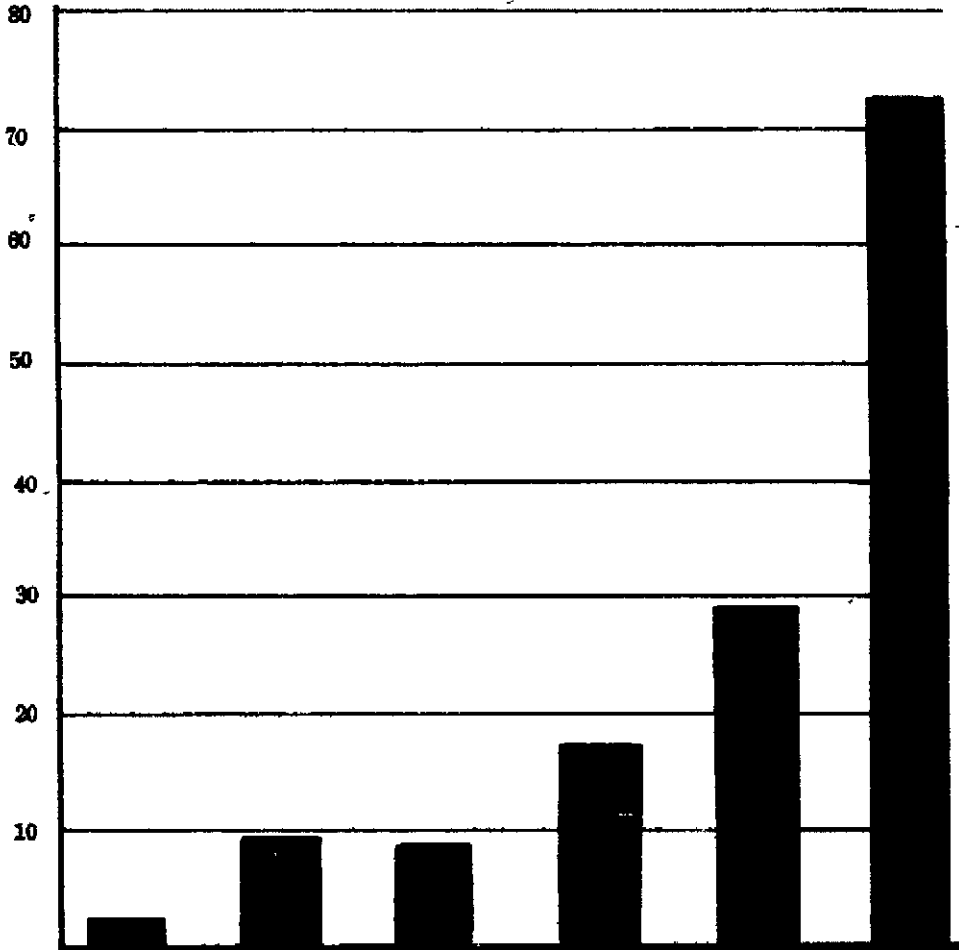

Although the bank's growth and prosperity have been a source of considerable satisfaction to its shareholders, directors, and employees, this satisfaction stems not from the increase in our assets alone, but from the story behind the balance sheets. In the final analysis, our story is the story of the financial growth and well-being of our customers. Our satisfaction is derived from our ability to assist you in owning your homes, rearing your families, and founding and expanding your businesses. We value the close, enduring ties that have developed over the years and are proud of the mutual feelings of trust we share.

As our bank has grown, so has our ability to provide more resources for the growth of the communities we serve. The aim of our current and future operations is to encourage to the fullest extent the economic well-being of the citizens, businessmen, and industries of this area. To this end we look forward to the continued cooperation of all of you. And for the fifty years of progress we celebrate today, we offer our profound "Thank You!"

Ben McEnteer,

President

KANSASCITY (AP) — Central State of Wilberforce, Ohio, had just defeated Fairmont, W. Va., State 51-48 for the NAIA national basketball championship, but all Central coach William Lucas could talk about was defense and Fairmont's outstanding shooter John Jamerson.

Fairmont Coach Joseph Retton was also talkative following the game, and his subject was also defense.

Although Central was never behind after overcoming a three-point Fairmont lead midway in the first half, the Saturday night game was hair-splitting close until guard Clarence Moore sank a free throw with two seconds showing on the clock.

Sikes Takes Citrus Open over Weiskopf

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Nerveless Dan Sikes burst out of pro golf's biggest logjam Sunday firing a 66 for a one-stroke victory over charging Tom Weiskopf in a pressure-packed showdown for the Citrus Open championship.

The 36-year-old golfer-lawyer from Jacksonville, Fla., birdied the 15th hole to take the lead for good and collect a $23,000 first place payoff with a 72-hole total of 274, 14 strokes under par. The best on the pro tour, also

Michigan Names Don Canham AD

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The University of Michigan Friday named Don Canham, who never had a losing season in his 19 years as track coach, to succeed H.O. "Fritz" Crisler as athletic director of the Big Ten school.

The university's board of regents announced at its regular monthly meeting that Canham would replace Crisler, who retires June 30.

Canham, 49, has been head track coach for the Wolverines since 1948.

Leafs Lose Rookie

TORONTO (AP) — Wayne Carleton, rookie forward, will be out the remainder of the season because of a broken bone in his left wrist, the Toronto Maple Leafs at the National Hockey League said Friday.

which they never relinquished. "I told them they were behind," Lucas said. "I was afraid Fairmont would get a lead and let the air out of the ball."

It was the second meeting of the two clubs this year. In a regular season game, Central edged Fairmont 63-50.

"They played the same way this time," Retton said. "This is a great club and they have a great coach."

In the earlier game, the Fairmont Falcons didn't have Jamerson, a transfer student who scored 16 points in the title contest, all from long range.

"Jamerson made the difference for them," Lucas said. "He can't miss from outside. He's a great one."

Oshkosh, Wis., State finally had an easy game, clobbering Westminster (Pa.) 102-68 in the third-place game.

Oshkosh had won its first three games by a total of seven points, and had lost in the semifinals to Fairmont 76-74 in the last five seconds.

Ron Hayek scored 29 points to lead Oshkosh and was named to the all-tournament team along with Central's Clarence Lane and Chris Buchanan; John Jamerson of Fairmont; and Mike Dreesing of Westminster.

Jamerson was named most valuable and the Charles S. Stevenson Hustle Award was given to Mike Malone of Oshkosh State.

Tritscher, Greene Cop Slalom

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Nancy Greene, Canada's superb 24-year-old star, and Reinhard Tritscher, 19-year-old Austrian on his first international tour, won the Aspen Ski Cup giant slalom races Sunday.

Miss Greene, winner of the Roch Cup with victories in downhill Friday and Slalom Saturday, extended her lead in the World Cup standings with the giant Slalom triumph. The men's race did not count in the World Cup competition.

Miss Greene, starting 13 in the field of 49 women racers from seven nations, glided rhythmically through the 67-gate course in 1:26.02. The course dropped 1,235 feet.

She was more than 1½ seconds faster, a spectacular margin in skiing, over runner-up Olympic slalom champion Martine Göttschel of France, timed in 1:27.69. West Germany's Rosi Mittermaier ran third in 1:29.07.

The times were unofficial subject to verification by gatekeepers and allowing for protests. Miss Greene's giant slalom victory raised her World Cup lead to 176 points, compared with 150 for Isabelle Mir of France, who did not compete here.

Miss Greene, defending World Cup champion, came to Aspen in fourth place in standings based on seasonlong achievements in International Ski Federation events.

Her sweep of the three races gave her 75 points.

"I wanted to win here," Miss Greene said, "because it takes the pressure off in the Rossland (British Columbia) World Cup races two weeks from now."

Tritscher negotiated the 76-gate course in the men's giant slalom in 1:54. It dropped more than 1,525 feet.

Dumeng Giovanoli of Switzerland, leading in World Cup competition, was second in 1:54.37 on the 6,900-foot long lay-out slowed by a warm sun.

Bill Kidd of Stowe, Vt., turned in 1:54.74 for third place, and Jean-Claude Killy, France's triple gold medal winner in the Olympics, was fourth in 1:54.99.

Sisk, Bucs Win 5-0 over Phils

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Pittsburgh's Tom Sisk limited the Philadelphia Phillies to three hits during five innings of shutout pitching Sunday and started the Pirates to a 5-0 exhibition victory.

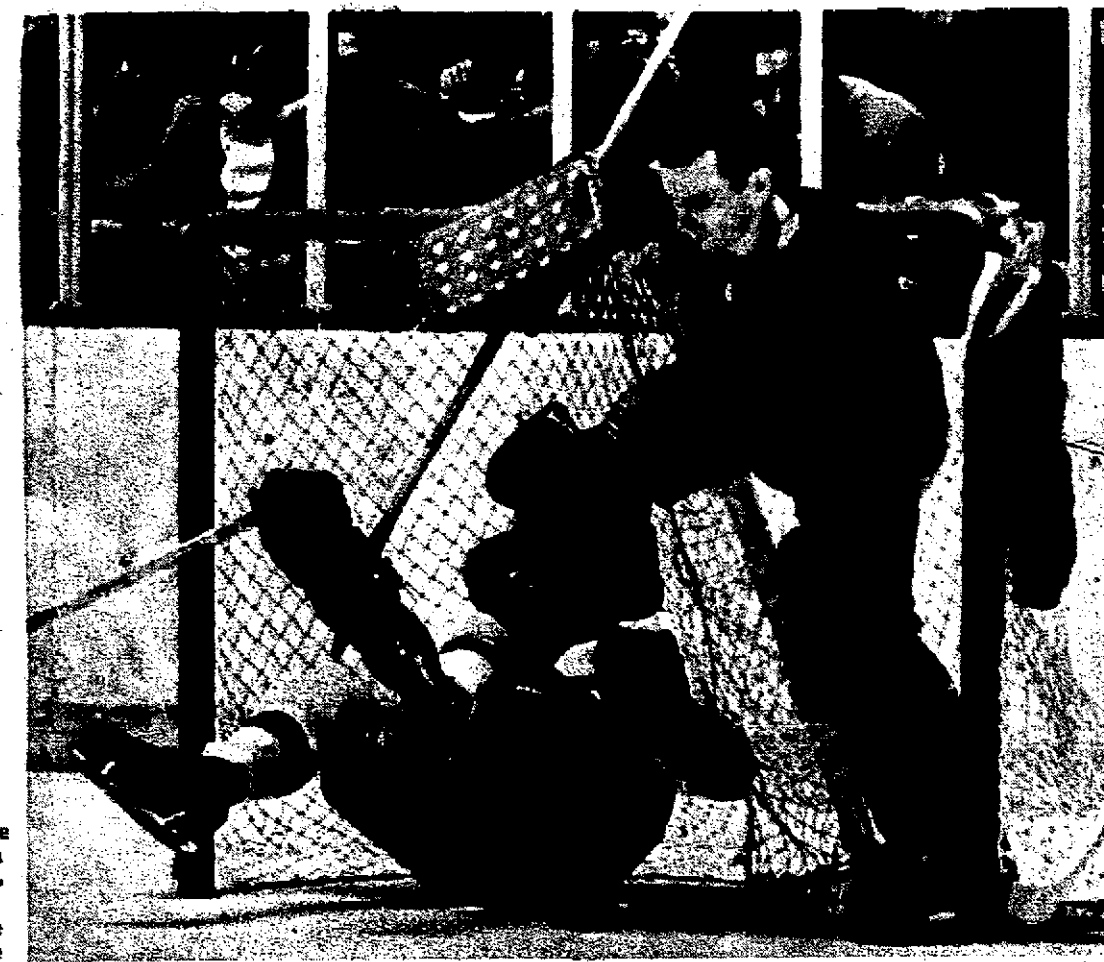

Right-hander Sisk gave up two singles and Bill White's double before stepping aside for brief stints by Lyn Fitzer, Roger Hayward and Dave Wickersham.

Roberto Clemente's double drove in Chuck Hiller with the first Pirate run. Pittsburgh got a two-run double from Matty Alou in the fourth.

Chris Short gave up three runs in four innings and was tagged with the loss.

Jim Bunning yielded three hits and a run during five innings of the Pirates' 8-1 "B" team victory over Philadelphia earlier in the day.

PLAYS LAUREL FOR WEST TITLE

Allegheny Defeats Erie East in Overtime 79-73

By The Associated Press
Jim Hobgood chose the right time to score a career high of 37 points, as he led Allegheny to a 79-73 victory over Erie East in overtime Sunday night.

Allegheny, the Pittsburgh city champ, now has won 17 straight.

In the East Allentown Dieruff surprised Williamsport 67-57 for the right to meet Cheltenham Wednesday for the Eastern title.

With Eddie Benson scoring 21 and pulling down 11 rebounds, Dieruff staved off a furious last quarter Williamsport rally that narrowed the margin to four with 1:52 to go.

Cheltenham drew a bye to gain the finals.

The PCIAA finished its playoffs with St. Francis Prep of Spring Grove overpowering St. Joseph's of Titusville, 77-55. The hilltoppers from York County never trailed, and led by as much as 35 in the fourth quarter.

The PIAA Class B and Class C fields narrowed over the weekend with Middletown (B) clobbering Wissahickon 79-57 and Williamsburg (C) topping North East, 80-65.

Middletown's Dave Twardzik scored 32 points, including 12-12 at the foul line.

Williamsburg's victory was a tea effort, with all five starters in double figures.

Middletown plays Mansfield Tuesday for the Eastern title, while Williamsburg takes on the winner of Monday's Eastern Regional C final between Mount Penn and Elk Lake.

Buckeyes-Tar Heels In Other Semifinal

It has come to pass, Houston and UCLA, the country's top two college basketball teams, play each other again this week. Their meeting means that Elvin Hayes and Lew Alcindor, the country's two top players, will wage another individual duel.

This epic rematch will be played Friday night in the Sports Arena in Los Angeles as part of the doubleheader semifinals in the NCAA tournament for the national collegiate championship.

It was set up Saturday night when unbeaten and top-ranked Houston routed Texas Christian 103-68 and UCLA, defeated only by Houston, wallopped Santa Clara 87-66 in NCAA quarter-finals.

Ohio State upset Kentucky 82-81 and North Carolina rallied to beat Davidson 70-66 in the other quarter-final games. The Buckeyes and Tar Heels meet in the other NCAA semifinal Friday.

The winner advances to Saturday night's championship final against the Houston-UCLA winner.

The Houston-UCLA rematch is the one collegiate fans have been hoping for since Jan. 20 when Houston shattered UCLA's 47-game winning streak 71-69 before a record 52,693 in the Astrodome at Houston.

Hayes, the Big E, outscored Alcindor 39-15 in that game and won it with two free throws in the last 39 seconds to break a 69-69 tie. His performance was a major factor in his becoming the college basketball player of the year.

The Houston triumph also knocked UCLA out of the No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press poll. Houston took over the top rung and finished in that position in the final poll.

Hayes scored another 39 points in leading the Cougars to their 32nd straight victory, 31-0 this season, Texas Christian, upset winner over Kansas State Friday, was outclassed in the Midwest Regional final at Wichita, Kan.

Alcindor, a towering 7-1½ who in his Jan. 20 meeting with Hayes, scored 22 points at UCLA, overwhelmed Santa Clara in the West Regional final at Albuquerque, N.M.

It was the 14th straight victory for the Uclans since their Houston defeat. Their over-all record this season is 27-1. They won the national title last year with a 30-0 mark. They have a fantastic 61-1 record in their last 62 games.

"We're going to have to beat UCLA if we're going to win the national championship," said Guy Lewis, Houston coach.

"That's the way it should be. It will be a great game at Los Angeles. I'm looking for them to stay with their press."

Johnny Wooden, UCLA coach, declared: "We hope we'll play Houston better than when we lost by two points in January. We didn't do anything especially wrong in that game except we didn't shoot well. We shot our poorest game since January 1961."

"Houston has improved, but so have we," Wooden continued. "Houston is a great club. If we can stop them, it'll be some."

Johnson Wooden, UCLA coach, declared: "We hope we'll play Houston better than when we lost by two points in January. We didn't do anything especially wrong in that game except we didn't shoot well. We shot our poorest game since January 1961."

thing." The Cougars and Bruins also met in the NCAA semifinals last year at Louisville, Ky. UCLA won 73-58 and took the national title by defeating Dayton the next night.

Down by eight points after a 22-6 Davidson spurt in the first half, North Carolina rallied to edge the Wildcats in their East regional final at Raleigh, N.C. Larry Miller's basket put the Tar Heels ahead for good at 47-46.

Dave Sorenson's five-foot jump shot with three seconds left gave unranked Ohio State its upset triumph over Kentucky in the Midwest Regional final at Lexington, Ky. The goal snuffed out the hopes of Adolph Rupp, veteran Kentucky coach, for an unprecedented fifth national title.

Long Island, the No. 1 small college team, took its first step toward duplicating Southern Illinois' 1967 feat of winning the title in the National Invitation Tournament in New York.

The Blackbirds upset Bradley 80-77 on Luther Green's three points in the last 19 seconds. It was one of four NIT games that completed the first round and reduced the field of 16 to eight.

It may be less grand than most station wagons. But it's also about a grand less.

If you're looking for a miniature moving van, our Squareback Sedan isn't it. Even with its back seat folded down it only holds half as much as the average station wagon.

Which means you can't lug 30 pieces of luggage. Or a full-sized double bed.

But maybe you just need a car that can carry 15 volumes. Or a full-sized single bed. Then you can save a lot of money with a Squareback Sedan.

It costs only $2349*

And it not only goes for less than most conventional wagons to begin with, it keeps on going for less.

A Squareback can get as much as 27 miles on a gallon of gas. It takes 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts. It never needs an ounce of anti-freeze, because it's cooled by air. And it avoids repair bills like a... well, like a Volkswagen.

So before you go out and buy some station wagon that has twice as much space as you really need, ask yourself this question:

Will all that extra grandness be worth an extra grand?

* Suggested retail, price East Coast P.O.E. Local taxes and other dealer delivery charges, if any, additional. Whitewalls optional at extra cost.

Duquesne's Visit to NIT Brief

NEW YORK (AP) — Duquesne's 12th visit to the National Invitation Basketball Tournament was a brief one.

Fordham led almost all the way Saturday night and beat the Dukes 69-60, outrebounding and outshooting taller Duquesne.

Duquesne Coach Red Manning, who has been rumored as stepping out, didn't think any of his players stood out.

"I'm sure we don't have to dwell on it," Manning said. "We did a poor job. Even though Fordham played exactly the game we thought they would, we couldn't put our own game together."

The Rams, 19-7, even committed 21 turnovers to the Dukes' 10, giving Duquesne 28 more shots, but it didn't matter.

Fordham shot at a 54.7 per cent clip from the floor, 29 of 53, compared to Duquesne's 25 of 61 for 40.9 per cent.

Bill Langheld paced Fordham with 19 points while Frank McLaughlin and Dennis Witkowski scored 13 each.

ting's midsection undoubtedly did not help his power of concentration. Kolb made it to third base on the play during an exhibition game played last Tuesday.

In order for any boy to be eligible to play in the Warren Hot Stove League, he must have been born during the years 1951 through 1959 and be registered in the district in which he is living. It is very important that all boys register tomorrow and Wednesday so that they may be assured of playing in their respective ward and also can receive a complete uniform.

League officials have announced that rules have been adopted this year that will assure every boy who is registered properly will play in every scheduled game. Should there be any questions, boys should contact their ward chairman for assistance.

League officers are: President, Bob Pascuzzi, vice-president, Harold Tundel, secretary, John Plehuta and treasurer Nick Tomassoni. Special assistant to officers is Dick Scallise, who is also handling Publicity.

Heading up Sponsor Solicitations is Hank English and anyone who desires to sponsor a Hot Stove League is urged to contact English, 1416 Allegheny ave., phone 723-6437. It is anticipated that approximately 60 sponsors will be needed to field enough teams for all registered boys.

President Bob Pascuzzi, also announces the following who have offered their services for this year: Don Quiggle, in charge of umpires; Harold Tundel will head up the Rules and Protest Committees, Tony Tomassoni will be Chief Groundskeeper; the All-Star Chairman is Phil Gahringer.

This season marks the 20th season in which Hot Stove League has been in operation and during this time it has expanded greatly. To properly run the league, plenty of hard work and long hours are required and it is necessary that more parents of the boys volunteer to do their fair share. League officials need additional help and request any parent who has even a little time to spare to step forward and offer his services. One of the biggest problems in its operation is the need for umpires. Any local resident wishing to offer his talents, is urged to contact any league officer.

The objective of the Warren Hot Stove League is to teach the ideals of good sportsmanship, honesty, loyalty and courage to the boys and men of the community—league officials want to give all boys in Warren the opportunity to play ball.

County Slates Rest of Month In Most Areas

Registration for the Upper Allegheny Valley Hot Stove League opened yesterday, with a few exceptions, and will continue until March 30.

Signups in the Russell area will be held between March 21-27 from 6:30 — 9 p.m. at the Russell Fire Hall.

In Sugar Grove, registrations are slated for March 22-29 between 6:30 — 9 p.m. at the Fire Hall, and in Clarendon for March 20-27 between 6 — 8 p.m. at the Fire Hall.

Registration forms are available at all schools in Youngsville, Pittsfield and Irvine. The program is open to all county boys who will be eight-year-old on or before June 1, 1968 up to 18-year-olds on or before January 1, 1968.

For additional information, contact the following district chairmen: Russell — Hank Passinger, 757-8377.

Clarendon—Bill Baker, 723-8057.

Youngsville — Dale Freeborough, 563-4178.

Pittsfield—Max Smith, 563-4584.

Grand Valley—Bob Graham, 436-3595.

Sugar Grove — Ray Sanders 489-3544.

Tidioute—Herm Knight, 484-3837.

The next meeting of the UAWL Hot Stove is scheduled for Thursday, April 4 at the Warren YMCA.

Phillies' Bill White New Man in Spring Training

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Bill White is the first one to admit he's a poor spring training hitter. But if that's true, then who's been playing first base for the Philadelphia Phillies this year?

White continued his blazing-hot hitting Saturday, smashing three safeties in a losing cause as the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the Phillies, 7-4, in exhibition baseball.

"This isn't like other springs," said White, "I have to prove I can do it this spring."

The likeable first sacker was apparently referring to his comeback try after a sub-par year last season.

ALBAUGH, WILLIAMS, CATALDO ADVANCE TO GREENSBURG

Three Warren Grapplers Capture Titles in Junior Olympic Tourney

DUBOIS — Warren sent ten grapplers into the finals of the Junior Olympic Wrestling Tournament here Saturday night, but emerged with only three champions, all in the elementary division.

Greg Williams and Scott Albaugh both advanced to the Western State Finals at Greensburg in the 70-pound class of the 11-years-and-under division and Dave Cataldo won a 105-pound title.

Losing in the finals of the elementary division were Randy Prosen (65) and Paul Champion (90). Runners-up in the junior high class were Neil Waxman (70), Lane Dunn (110), Bob Sorenson (110), Rick Nuhfer (120) and Jim Rex (150).

Eliminations were held in two brackets in each weight class, the winners in each bracket did not meet and both advanced to the Greensburg tourney on March 22-23.

Albaugh won his crown by defeating J. Spinda of DuBois, 8-3, in the upper bracket finals and Williams won in the lower bracket at the same weight, taking a default over G. Nelson of Clearfield.

Cataldo slipped past B. Hicks of Brockway, 4-3, for his 105-pound title.

Rangers Goalie Zips Penguins

NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Giacomin's eighth shutout of the season halted a four-game New York winless streak as the National Hockey League Rangers blanked the Pittsburgh Penguins 3-0 Sunday night.

Giacomin, who leads the league in shutouts, stopped 20 shots, several of them tough ones.

First-period goals by Jean Ratelle and Orland Kurtenbach, 75 seconds apart, gave Giacomin a 2-0 cushion. The Ranger goalie protected the edge with a brilliant double save on Ken Schinkel, stopping Schinkel's initial shot and then batting the second try high in the air and out of danger.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a medication with the ability, in most cases — to promptly stop itching, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids.

Tests by doctors proved that in case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction of the inflamed hemorrhoids took place.

The secret is Preparation H®. There's no other formula like it! Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Great Day Idea Exchange

You VS. permanent press

You win with a Gas Dryer

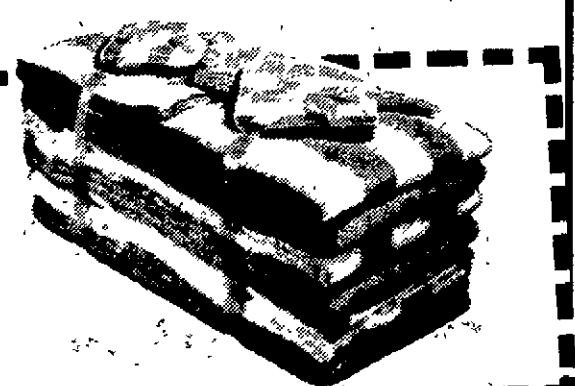

Just press the button for Permanent Press clothes, a new Blackstone Gas Dryer does the rest — exclusive gas fluff-up, exclusive gas cool-down cycles leave nothing to be desired, little to iron.

• automatic sensor controls dryness of load
• easy controls for special or damp-dry
Think about this time-saver, money saver.

Think about your problems in permanent-press clothing:

- do you touch up with an "iron"?
- does the crease cease with washing?
- does the Permanent-press vanish as it dries?
- does the crease come back to life wrinkled?

Come in for an IDEA EXCHANGE with Gas Company sales representative or dealer. All they want is your conversation — your idea exchange about problems with Permanent Press. They think they've got salesmanship that can't be said in print — that makes sense about clothing whether you buy their dryer or not. Let your curiosity get the better of you. Come in — and — Have a Great Day!

Capitol Hill Contracts Bring Monopoly Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight of nine major design contracts awarded by Congress during a Capitol Hill building boom that began in 1955 have gone to seven architects—eventual business partners—whose fees to date total $5,197,737.

There is nothing illegal or unethical about Congress hiring and rehiring the same group of architects. But architects who have been shut out are sharply critical of Congress for giving one project after another to members of the firm of DeWitt, Poor and Shelton.

"There has been a monopoly created on Capitol Hill," said Philip Hutchinson Jr., director of government affairs for the American Institute of Architects, which claims 22,000 members among 30,000 licensed architects in the United States.

"The system up here is designed to play favorites," Hutchinson said. Mario Campioli, assistant architect of the Capitol, and one of the men responsible for advising Congress on Capitol Hill construction, testified before a special House subcommittee in 1966 that the same architects were used regularly because there were very few others trained in the architecture traditional on the Hill.

Campioli—who worked for two of the seven DeWitt, Poor and Shelton partners before resigning to become assistant architect of the Capitol—testified: "There are very few who do the old work. The architects we have do both (classical and contemporary)."

"That's hogwash," Hutchinson told the Associated Press. "To imply that these are the only architects in the country

Beach Studio Give Program

At Rouse Home

Students from the Beach Dance Studio, under the direction of Mrs. Penny Beach, presented a special St. Patrick's Day program March 13, for guests at Rouse Home, Youngsville.

Approximately 50 students took part in the program which highlighted a variety of dance routines, including tap, ballet, and specialty numbers.

The remainder of the program consisted of guest participation, with a violin solo by Ira Sutton and Irish songs by Marge McAllister, Julie Hohnman and Leota Fox, accompanied by Mrs. Shriner on the piano. Group singing and refreshments concluded the program.

Volunteers aiding at the affair were Mrs. Lewis Crippen, Miss Cecilia White, Miss Maxine Barnes, Mrs. George Anderson and Marcelius Schumacher and his staff.

trained in classical work is pure hogwash."

The seven architects are Roscoe DeWitt and Fred Hardison of Dallas, Alfred Easton Poor and Albert Swanke of New York City and Jesse M. Shelton, Alan G. Stanford and A. P. Almond of Atlanta.

They went into partnership under the name of DeWitt, Poor and Shelton after being collectively awarded a contract in 1955 for extension of the Capitol. Stanford since has died.

De Witt defended his firm's record in Capitol Hill construction.

"We did a good job," he said in an interview. "In many instances you hear about a job and you try to get it and somebody says, 'Well, so-and-so has been doing our work for years and we don't see any reason to change now.'"

For example, said DeWitt, "We had just finished the east front of the Capitol when the Library of Congress job came up and everybody was very pleased... so we were given an opportunity to do the library."

There is no competitive financial bidding for architectural contracts, on Capitol Hill or elsewhere. Architects traditionally do not quote price. Instead they submit brochures of their work, and a selection is made on that basis.

Selection of architects for Capitol Hill jobs over the past 13 years has been done by six different committees of the House, the Senate, or both.

When Congress set up the National Planning Commission in 1952 to oversee the orderly development of Washington, including its architecture, Capitol Hill was exempted from the commission's jurisdiction, leaving control of the Hill's 131 acres in the hands of the Congress.

Sheriff's Sale
